Watergate Trial Gets Under Way; Jury Venire Huge

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate affair, one of the spicier issues of last fall's presidential election, has finally reached its day in court. Seven men go on trial today on charges of breaking into the Democratic party's national headquarters.

The trial could take up to three months to complete, with the jury sequestered to insulate it from the anticipated glare of publicity. Because of the controversy and high interest in the case 1,000 prospective jurors have been called.

The defendants, including former White House aides and officials of President Nixon's reelection campaign, are charged with breaking into the Democratic National Committee's headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex.

Kissinger, Tho Hold Showdown Viet Talks

PARIS (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger and Hanoi's Le Duc Tho resumed their peace talks in an apparently icy atmosphere today, conferring for 4½ hours in a suburban villa owned by the French Communist party.

It was the first meeting of the two top negotiators since the talks were suspended Dec. 13 and followed by massive American bombing raids on North Vietnam.

Resumption of the peace talks was reportedly part of a backstage deal under which President Nixon ordered the raids halted above the 20th Parallel on Dec. 30. North Vietnamese public statements since then have given no hint of a softening in Hanoi's position. Tho, as host of today's meeting, seemed to go out of his way to demonstrate Hanoi's anger over the bombing. For the first time since the secret talks began, Kissinger and his aides were given no handshake when they arrived and left the meeting.

On their arrival, the Americans were left standing for almost a minute at the front door of the villa in suburban Gif sur Yvette. Kissinger finally pushed open the door and went inside. The American negotiators emerged grim-faced after the meeting, again with no North Vietnamese official on hand to bid them farewell as in the past. During previous meetings, Tho and Kissinger were frequently seen shaking hands and smiling together. There was no information from either delegation on what was discussed at the meeting, or when the two sides would meet again.

Technical experts met independently to continue their discussion of details of a possible future cease-fire agreement. These discussions apparently were not concerned with the major political problems still under dispute between the two sides.

Tho and Xuan Thuy, the head of the North Vietnamese delegation in Paris, arrived more than 20 minutes before the Americans and smiled and waved at the waiting newsmen.

Most of the Americans had tense, serious expressions when they arrived. It has been more than 10 weeks since Kissinger told a Washington news conference that "peace is at hand." Arriving from Washington Sunday night in a more subdued mood, he said: "The President has sent me back to Paris to make one more major effort to conclude the negotiations. 'We expect that the talks this time will be serious and worthy of the yearning of people all over the world for an early end of the war,' Kissinger continued. 'As far as the United States is concerned, we shall dedicate ourselves to this effort with patience, good will and hope.'"

But Tho — on his arrival Saturday from Hanoi, Peking and Moscow — gave no indication he was ready to concede anything. He said the decisive moment had come for the United States to sign the draft agreement he and Kissinger worked out in October "or continue the war."

Kissinger and Tho broke off their last round of secret talks Dec. 13. The United States reportedly demanded that Hanoi recognize the Saigon government's sovereignty over all of South Vietnam, and North Vietnam charged that Nixon was trying to perpetuate the division of Vietnam.

Following the breakdown of the last Kissinger-Tho talks, Nixon ordered the war's heaviest bombing of the Hanoi-Haiphong area. After two weeks of enormous destruction on the ground and the loss of at least 29 U.S. planes and 97 American airmen, Nixon halted the bombing above the 20th parallel, and Hanoi agreed to another round of negotiations with Kissinger.

Officials in Washington have refrained from predictions about the outcome of the new talks. Nixon told congressional leaders Friday: "I cannot tell you the prospects are optimistic or pessimistic."

The President said he wants three elements in the agreement: "the return of American prisoners of war, a cease-fire in Vietnam and an agreement to allow all parties in South Vietnam to determine their future."

Although President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam continues to demand that the agreement provide for withdrawal of all North Vietnamese troops in South Vietnam, sources in the Nixon administration said the United States is not insisting on this.

New Orleans Snipers Are Trapped In Motel

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Police gunners at the ready in a Marine helicopter hovered over a battle-scarred downtown hotel today but couldn't spot two snipers believed to be still alive after an overnight shooting spree in which 7 persons were killed and 16 injured.

It was one of the few passes by the big Chinook chopper that did not draw gunfire.

City officials blockaded many streets around the downtown Howard Johnson Hotel for fear somebody might be hit by stray bullets or ricochets if firing resumes.

Police were moving cautiously in an effort to prevent further fatalities. The 18-floor hotel was deserted except for police and the surviving snipers.

One of the snipers was killed Sunday night, gunned down by policemen riding the big Marine Sikorsky chopper during one of many assaults on the concrete structure atop the roof where the snipers holed up.

A firefight flared before dawn when another pass overhead by the chopper, with policemen firing, forced one of the snipers down a stairwell — where three policemen were trying to get into firing range.

The three policemen were su-

U.S. Planes Err, Bomb Da Nang Base

SAIGON (AP) — An American flight leader mistakenly guided five U.S. fighter-bombers into an accidental attack on the Da Nang Air Base today.

Ten Americans and one Vietnamese were reported wounded by shrapnel or injured while running for cover. No deaths were reported. The western part of the base where the bombs hit is thinly populated.

The U.S. Command reported that about half a dozen U.S. AC119 gunships and one helicopter were lightly damaged by flying shrapnel and four fuel tanks were destroyed.

The command first reported the explosions at 8:20 a.m. as an enemy shelling attack. Seven hours later, it announced that an investigation showed five Air Force, Navy and Marine fighter-bombers "flying above a heavy overcast accidentally dropped 34 500-pound bombs at Da Nang Air Base."

The intended target was suspected North Vietnamese and Viet Cong positions near Da Nang. The flight leader reportedly ordered the bombs dropped at the wrong map coordinates.

The planes — an Air Force F4 Phantom, two Marine F4s and two Navy A7 Corsairs — came from two bases in Thailand and from a carrier off the coast, and the pilots may have been unfamiliar with the Da Nang area.

The U.S. Command reported continued heavy aerial assaults on North Vietnam's southern panhandle with the object of slowing war materiel moving down to South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia.

Forty-five B52s dropped about 1,300 tons of bombs, and there were 124 strikes by fighter-bombers during the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today.

North Vietnamese and Viet Cong attacks in South Vietnam dropped from an average of 100 per day during the past five days to 77 for the 24 hours ending at dawn today, the Saigon command said. Sixty of the attacks were carried out by rockets and mortars and involved no infantry assaults, headquarters said.

perficially wounded in the gunfight before it was broken off.

It all started about 10:30 a.m. Sunday when the snipers, described by police as blacks, began setting fires in the hotel. When firemen arrived, they came under gunfire.

At one point during the predawn darkness, one of the surviving snipers was reported to have crawled to the other end of the hotel roof. Police sharpshooters in surrounding buildings opened fire, but Police Supt. Clarence Giarrusso ordered all firing stopped except by marksmen 600 yards away in the federal building.

His order came when policemen on the 17th floor of the hotel said they were being fired upon, apparently by their own men.

Giarrusso, who lost his No. 2 man and two other officers in the sniping which began Sunday, had said earlier he would take no chances.

"Time is our ally," he said. "They're at our will now. We're going to win."

The snipers had started their shooting before noon Sunday, peppering the area with gunfire throughout the day after setting sections of the hotel afire. The hotel is about six blocks from the city's famed French Quarter.

Police on Sunday evening had reported a total of 10 persons killed. Early today, they lowered the count to seven and said the mistake apparently was made in duplicate count of the dead found on the top floor of the hotel. They said three bodies, instead of the six originally reported, were found on the top floor. The other dead included the three policemen and a body found in a stairwell.

It was not immediately known whether all of the victims died of gunshot wounds or in fires set by the snipers.

Mayor Moon Landrieu said that efforts to negotiate with the snipers were fruitless. "They said crazy things," he said. "Things like, 'come and get us.'"

A police spokesman said there was "some indication" that the incident might be re-related to the New Year's Eve sniping attacks on two other policemen, one of whom was killed.

There were three snipers in the bunker at one time, but one was killed by police gunfire from a Marine helicopter Sunday night.

The sniper exposed himself when he leaped from the concrete-block house to shoot at the helicopter.

Police said the snipers were armed with pistols and rifles shooting .44-caliber magnum bullets. Their big-caliber guns were a bass boom compared to the sharp crack of the smaller, high-velocity police weapons.

Police and firemen first were drawn to the hotel before noon Sunday by fires apparently set by the snipers. Firemen managed to keep the flames under control even while ducking volleys of bullets hurled at them by the gunmen.

Two separate fires in which arson is suspected and which authorities say may be linked with the shootings destroyed two downtown warehouses Jan. 1.

Another arson-suspected blaze caused five deaths at the Rault Center — a high-rise office and apartment building across the street from the Howard Johnson — just over a month ago.

Asked if police expected the two remaining snipers to be taken alive, a spokesman said: "We don't think so, because they were apparently on a suicide mission and don't want to give up."

One of the policemen killed was Deputy Supt. Louis Sirgo, who was accompanying a group of officers searching for the snipers.

They were walking down a 15th floor corridor when one of the gunmen stepped out behind them, shot Sirgo in the back and raced up the stairs to the roof.

Another patrolman chased him, kicking open a steel door to get onto the roof only to be blown back down the stairs by a gun's blast. He was not killed.

An ambulance attendant, Chris Caton, was shot while helping load a wounded policeman into his ambulance on a grassy mall across the street from the hotel.

"This is diabolical, picking off those officers as they go to the aid of each other," said Police Chaplain Peter Rogers.

Two Arrested In City Burglaries

Several burglaries in Circleville were cleared up with the arrest of two Circleville men by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff over the weekend.

Dale Knece, 19, Route 4, and Charles Hutchison, 18, 223 S. Scioto St., are in county jail after admitting to burglaries at the Circleville Herald, Burger Chef, Appliance and Refrigeration Store on W. Main St. and The Trinity Lutheran Church.

Sheriff Radcliff had picked up Hutchison last week on a warrant from the Ohio Youth Commission for violation of probation and booked him into county jail. Both Hutchison and Knece were suspects in a burglary in Fairfield County after a purse taken in the burglary was found on Trimmer Road and Knece's car had been spotted in the area.

Knece was taken into custody by the sheriff Saturday afternoon when he appeared at the county jail to visit Hutchison. Both men admitted to the Fairfield County burglary and the four burglaries in Circleville. They also burgled at the Circleville Herald but said they were scared off when they heard someone in the rear of the building.

The men were questioned about several burglaries in Pickaway County but denied any knowledge of the crimes.

They were turned over to Sgt. Larry Pontious of the Circleville police department for interrogation. Sgt. Pontious will file charges this afternoon in Circleville Municipal Court.

State Faces School Suit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A private school group has threatened to file suit against the state of Ohio for what it says are efforts to establish an "educational monopoly" in the state.

Robert P. Woodman, executive director of the Ohio Parents Rights in Education, said the monopoly would be the result of private schools' being forced to close.

Several legislative attempts to offer state financial aid to nonpublic schools have been overruled by state courts as unconstitutional, but Woodman said the stand actually prevents "many groups of parents and others from establishing alternative forms of education and schools."

Woodman said that the U.S. Supreme Court "long ago ruled that no state has the power to standardize its children by forcing them to accept instruction from public teachers only" and that Ohio was "doing indirectly that which the court has declared no state has the power to do directly."

Woodman, who said only that court action was planned, said that he was also urging Ohio's congressional delegation to spur the U.S. Justice Department to take action against the state.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Watergate affair, one of the spicier issues of last fall's presidential election, has finally reached its day in court. Seven men go on trial today on charges of breaking into the Democratic party's national headquarters.

The trial could take up to three months to complete, with the jury sequestered to insulate it from the anticipated glare of publicity. Because of the controversy and high interest in the case 1,000 prospective jurors have been called.

The defendants, including former White House aides and officials of President Nixon's reelection campaign, are charged with breaking into the Democratic National Committee's headquarters in Washington's Watergate complex.

Five of the men were captured at gunpoint inside the sixth-floor offices at 4:30 a.m. last June 17 at a time when Democrats were winding up a long run of presidential primary races.

The incident immediately became a campaign issue because of the links between the men and the Nixon administration and campaign. But the White House and Republican party have consistently denied any connection with the break-in and the alleged related electronic eavesdropping and theft of documents. Congressional attempts to bring some kind of official inquiry into the open before the Nov. 7 presidential election failed, making this trial the first public display of an official investigation.

So far, most of the investigation which has reached the public has been conducted by news media, which have reported allegations that the break-in was part of a wide-scale campaign of political espionage and sabotage against Democrats.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield disclosed over the weekend that he has ordered a full-scale Senate investigation, ensuring a probe into any political areas that might be overlooked by the trial.

In a pretrial hearing last week, Charles Morgan Jr., a lawyer representing a number of Democratic officials and party employees, said he had information that the government prosecutors would try to show that blackmail, and not politics, was the motive behind the bugging.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Earl J. Silbert has said he intends to offer evidence "from which the jury may draw, we think, an appropriate inference as to perhaps a variety of interests."

Chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica has said he would not brook a prosecution which treats the case as just another burglary.

"This jury is going to have to know what did these men go into that headquarters for," Sirica said at a pretrial conference. "Was their sole purpose political espionage? Were they paid? Was there financial gain? Who hired them? Who started this?"

A block of 99,900 shares of Panhandle Eastern Pipeline sold at 44 3/4, up 1/8, making that issue the Big Board's most active stock.

Mountain Fuel Supply, which has been a volatile issue for several weeks, dropped 3 3/4 to 87 1/2.

On the American Stock Exchange Jefferson Stores was active and 4 1/4 higher to 10 1/4. Friday the Montgomery Ward unit of Marcor announced an agreement in principle to acquire Jefferson Stores.

Open Letter

Dear friends,

What is the history of the funeral service? It is a rite that reaches back to most primitive times. Evidence reveals that some sort of burial rites have always been performed. The Bible offers such evidence, beginning with Abraham whose burial is described in Genesis 25, to Christ who was laid to rest with great tenderness and care (Luke 23). A similar respect for the deceased and compassion for the living is an essential part of the funeral ceremony of today.

Open Letter

Dear Friends,
What is the history of the funeral service? It is a rite that reaches back to most primitive times. Evidence reveals that some sort of burial rites have always been performed. The Bible offers such evidence, beginning with Abraham whose burial is described in Genesis 25, to Christ who was laid to rest with great tenderness and care (Luke 23). A similar respect for the deceased and compassion for the living is an essential part of the funeral ceremony of today.

Undercover Police Recruit Hurt In Cincy Liquor Raid

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — A police recruit, injured and arrested while on duty as an undercover man, doesn't believe he'll shy away from further undercover work.

"I guess you can expect anything when you're involved in things like this," Lawrence Henderson said about his role of undercover man in a liquor raid. "It's nothing to get all upset about. I don't think it would keep me from doing it again."

In his 11th week of a 17-week police training program, the 26-year-old Cincinnati went unrecognized by policemen who arrested him during a raid on a jammed night spot here early Saturday.

Some of those on the scene said policemen beat Henderson, although they didn't know who he was, and that Henderson picked a fight with them. After Henderson was taken from the establishment, a policeman identified him as an undercover agent.

Nursing an injured leg, but not requiring hospitalization, Henderson said he was disguised in a "mod outfit. I didn't think anybody who knew me all my life could recognize me."

Henderson wouldn't confirm or deny whether it was fellow policemen who injured him.

"Just say I got hurt in a raid," he said. "It wasn't that serious."

Henderson appeared to have been knocked down a stairway during the raid, but he said, "It was one of those fake deals."

"I wanted to get arrested. It was something that happened in there — the night spot — I had to get some information out."

The raid occurred about 3:30 a.m. and Henderson said he had been at the establishment since about 10:30 p.m. Friday. He said the place had been under watch for some time.

President May Not Deliver State Of Union Message

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the second time, President Nixon may not deliver his State of the Union message to Congress in person.

Congressional sources said Thursday the President is expected instead to present broad outlines of his programs in his Jan. 20 inaugural address and follow up with a written message to Congress.

Gerald L. Warren, deputy White House press secretary, said no final plans have been made for the annual State of the Union message.

Normally, when a president plans to address Congress in person at the outset of a session, he so informs a special joint committee shortly after it advises him each session that Congress is ready for business.

That committee reported back to the House Wednesday that Nixon said "from time to time he will send messages to this body."

Leaders of Congress have not been asked to set a date for a personal address by the President. Neither have security forces been alerted to prepare for such an occasion.

In 1970, 1971 and 1972, President Nixon personally delivered his State of the Union message. In 1969, his first year in office, he sent his message up and it was read to Congress. President Johnson, leaving office that year, delivered his final State of the Union address in person.

President Eisenhower didn't make a personal appearance when he left office in January 1961. That was the year President Kennedy made his first personal address to Congress.

Eisenhower also sent his message by courier in 1956 while he was in Key West.

In the early years of Congress, presidents addressed joint sessions each year. Thomas Jefferson discontinued that practice in 1801 and transmitted his messages in writing. Jefferson's precedent was followed until 1913 when Woodrow Wilson resumed the custom of addressing Congress in person. The practice has been followed generally by most presidents since then, with the exception of Herbert Hoover.

Cleveland Building Collapse $1 Million Mystery For Firm

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The old Watson Building was only a pile of rubble for Cleveland commuters this morning-but it's a $1 million mystery for the engineers who began sifting through the debris this morning.

The building was ordered demolished over the weekend by Cuyahoga County commissioners after a rear portion collapsed two weeks ago, a few days after a private firm moved the building 23 feet south to make room for other construction.

The firm, Mural & Son, Inc., contends the collapse was caused by something out of its control. The county, noting that relocating the offices and equipment inside the building will run to $1 million, wants to hold Mural responsible and contracted for engineers to make a final probe of the building's ruins.

"Everything we did was done correctly," a Mural spokesman said. He said that one theory for the collapse involves the nearby excavation for the new county justice center.

Another building in the same area was recently shaken by vibrations from the excavating machinery, he said.

Another possibility is that the sandy downtown Cleveland soil-the bed of a prehistoric lake-just simply wouldn't support the building's weight on its new foundation.

Demolition of the building began Thursday night, and the 7,000-ton, six-story structure lay in ruin today.

Asst. County Prosecutor John L. Dowling said that the commissioners may hold the firm responsible no matter what the investigation reveals.

"As a contractor he takes the job with full knowledge of all the risks," he said.

Mine Removed From Hazard List

WHEELING, W. Va. (AP) — The U. S. Bureau of Mines says it was in error last year when it included the Valley Camp Coal Co.'s No. 3 mine as one of the 10 most hazardous mines in the U. S.

The No. 3 mine, located at nearby Triadelphia, was included in a listing released last fall. At the time Valley Camp Vice President Alvey B. Rushton protested the rating and asked an investigation.

The original news release said the No. 3 mine had been subject to 512 man-hours of inspection by federal mine officials, but the Bureau in a letter of apology to the mining firm explained that the number of man-hours should have been only 34.

Escapee Charged In Fatal Shooting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Columbus police have charged Robert Lee Schieb, 27, a Dec. 19 escapee from the Marion Correctional Institution, with first-degree murder in the shooting death last Friday of an east side bar owner.

Schieb is accused of shooting Edward Demier, 52, of Columbus inside GJ's Bar early Friday morning.

He was arrested late Saturday night.

Widen Search For Lost Boys

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland police today appealed to residents and businessmen on the city's East Side to search "every foot" of their property for signs of two small boys missing for a full week.

The two children, 7-year-old Renaldo B. Goldsby and his 6-year-old cousin Virgil G. Stone, walked away from the Goldsby home the afternoon of New Year's Day. Neither has been seen since, despite a massive search involving more than 1,000 police and volunteers.

Police said the appeal for people to search their own property might turn up clues since searchers have been frustrated in attempts to search many businesses and homes during certain hours.

Pardon The Yawn

Now that doctors have discovered that yawning is a good form of exercise, many persons will be hopeful that some of their companions will realize that they've just been trying to reduce their jowls. Before the doctors made this discovery, yawning was regarded as one of the worst roots of all evils. To yawn in the middle of a superior's face of the lady of the house, mere man's estate was likely to get one a harangue or worse. And when one yawned in the face of the lady of the house, mere man's estate was likely to look like Managua after the earthquake. Fortunately, those moments are gone forever.

When the word gets around that yawning is legitimate healthy-giving exercise, many of those who stifled yawns for years will be like frogs who would die if they couldn't croak.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I know that the stomach contains hydrochloric acid. I also know that this powerful acid can destroy metal.

I asked my teacher why the hydrochloric acid in the stomach doesn't dissolve the stomach itself. She told me to look it up, and I can't find the answer anywhere.

Miss F.B.B., Tenn.

Dear Miss B.:

The question is an enchanting one and has been the source of study for many years by scientists.

The stomach juices, the digestive enzymes, and the hydrochloric acid are kept from "destroying" the stomach by the protective lining and the cells in that lining.

It seems that these cells act as a remarkable protective barrier and, in a complicated way, keep the acid from injuring the stomach itself.

Under some circumstances, the hydrochloric acid and the juices do produce ulcers which may even penetrate through the stomach wall if untreated.

New knowledge about the resisting power of the protective barrier in the stomach is constantly being sought. Much is known, but there are wonders of the body that still elude even the most diligent scientists.

What is the difference between an osteopath and a chiropractor? Do they have the same schooling?

Mrs. H.B., N.Y.

Dear Mrs. B.:

These two fields are distinctly separate from the point of view of training.

Both are involved with the manipulation of the bones and the joints of the body.

Here the similarity stops.

A Doctor of Osteopathy is one who has completed a four-year course in the techniques of osteopathy. Although he does not have an M.D. degree, he does have a D.O. degree.

He can treat patients with drugs and can perform surgery. He can become a specialist in any of a number of different areas.

Doctors of Osteopathy have attained positions in universities and in hospitals, and are respected members of the medical community.

A chiropractor uses the title Doctor of Chiropractic.

The chiropractor uses manipulative treatment on the spine and the bones of the body. He is not permitted to prescribe drugs nor to perform surgery.

I have previously mentioned that when chiropractors know their limitations and work under the supervision of physicians or osteopaths they can be a real contribution to some patients.

When, however, a chiropractor presumes to be an all-encompassing diagnostician there is the danger that some basic, underlying disease may be overlooked.

In my daughter's high school class, the girls pass around their cosmetics. Is this an unwise practice?

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you getting older?

Well, you don't even have to ask the question if —

You have more friends inside the cemetery than out of it.

The last thing you do before going to bed is write down a list of things you know you won't be around to doing tomorrow.

You spend more time looking backward than looking forward.

When you hear a new funny story, a picture flashes in your mind of the guy who first told it to you 25 years ago. But you can't quite recall his name or what became of him.

Your wife calls you Dad or Father. Every year you buy garden seeds a few days earlier.

Getting a new tie for Christmas is no longer an ordeal, but a kind of consolation — because it is one tradition that is changeless. Instead of hiding the tie or giving it away, you wear it yourself the day after you get it, no matter what it looks like.

When you see a man going up steps two at a time, you think he must be slightly balmy.

You have forgiven yourself your own youth, but you can't forgive it in others.

Let the first snowflake of winter fall, and you lift your voice to all within hearing distance and bleat out, "You should have seen the great snowfall here in December 1947. There's never been anything like it before or since — except maybe the great blizzard of '88."

Without your realizing it, your daily speech is larded with faded colloquialisms, such as "They're spitting images of each other" or "I was only kneehigh to a grasshopper in those days."

That little round paunch you call a

You wonder often how some people manage to hold their jobs, but you no longer wonder how you hold yours.

Any morning you come to work and find the janitor has left your wastepaper basket beside somebody else's desk, you ask aloud why nobody seems able to leave things where they find them anymore. You don't really simmer down until you're halfway through your second martini at lunch. That luncheon is more and more likely to consist of chicken a la king than steak, not only because it's cheaper but because it's easier to chew.

Recognize yourself?

LONDON (AP) — Former British Prime Minister Harold Wilson says he has canceled a U.S. lecture tour in protest against the bombing of North Vietnam.

Wilson, leader of Britain's Labor party, said Thursday night he has "strong feelings" against the bombing.

He was scheduled to give a series of lectures on British-American relations in Houston and Denver later this month.

Taiwanese Are Taking Over

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

For reasons of power politics, which is all that counts these days, the U.S. has been dealing with dictatorships in East Asia in order to combat other dictatorships. We use airfields in Thailand, where constitutional rule has been suspended, in order to bomb North Vietnam, which is run by the most ferocious military dictatorship imaginable. We do this to protect President Thieu in South Vietnam, a ruler who came to power in an uncontested election. Our warships go out to patrol the South China Sea and the Gulf of Tonkin from bases in the Philippines, where President Ferdinand Marcos has had to cope with the opposition by invoking martial law. As for the great land mass of Red China, Richard Nixon visited its Chairman—i.e. dictator—Mao Tse-tung in order to build a balance-of-power relationship capable of restraining dictator Brezhnev in the Soviet Kremlin.

The little Republic of China on Taiwan tends to get lost in the shuffle while the Metternichean game of choosing between friendly and malevolent dictatorships goes on.

Theoretically, Red China is free to gobble up Taiwan any time it is able to muster a force capable of crossing Formosa Strait. It is by a strange irony, then, that the Taiwanese, who should be shaking in their boots and running for authoritarian cover, have become increasingly scrupulous about maintaining democratic processes.

It was with a defiant insouciance that 70 per cent of the island's 7.5 million eligible voters went to the polls on December 23 in an election open to all parties. The basic reason for calling the election was to bring more native-born Taiwanese into the government in spite of a constitution that confirms the "invader" mainlanders in parliamentary office until they die or until the Chinese mainland has been recovered.

To "free up" an admittedly semi-static situation in Taiwan, where the incumbents have maintained power for more than a generation on the fiction that their constituencies are on the mainland and hence are prevented by the usurper Mao from calling new elections, the decision was made to elect 53 "additional" members of the National Assembly and 36 "additional" members to the Legislative Yuan. The Kuomintang, which has the same prestige in Taiwan that the Party of Revolutionary Institutions has in Mexico, easily dominated the vote, winning 43 of the new seats in the Legislative Yuan. However, the big point is that regardless of party membership most of the new seats were captured not by refugees from the mainland but by native Taiwanese. Forty-eight of the new members of the National Assembly and 32 of the "additions" to the Legislative Yuan were born on the island. A few of them are members of the Young China Party; others were elected as "independents."

With this new native blood infused into the ruling structure of Taiwan the old criticism that President Chiang Kai-shek's group of mainlanders has suppressed the native culture must lose much of its force. The old-timers from the mainland still have a three-to-one advantage, but attrition will soon alter the balance. Meanwhile, in the elections to the Provincial Assembly, which deals with local matters, 70 out of the 73 seats were won by native islanders. And all of the 20 new mayors and magistrates happen to be Taiwanese by birth.

The 36 "additional" members of the Legislative Yuan will be joined in February by 15 more "additional" legislators chosen from overseas Chinese communities throughout the world. The idea is that the "Republic of China," in contrast to the Mao dictatorship, belongs to free Chinese wherever they may happen to be. Ten "Additional" members of the Control Yuan, a "watchdog" body which has the power of impeaching elected officials, will shortly be chosen by the combined vote of the Taipei City and the Taiwan Provincial Assembly, and another five "additions" to the Control Yuan will be selected from overseas.

So the Spirit of 1776, banished though it may be from most of East Asia, grows on the small island that Nixon-Kissinger diplomacy ignores. We would do well to honor what is happening in Taiwan as our own Tricentennial approaches.

Thalidomide Compensation Offer Reaches $48 Million

LONDON (AP) — The big drug and whisky company that distributed thalidomide in Britain has increased to $48 million its offer of compensation to the young crippled victims of the drug.

The Distillers Co. made the new offer Friday night in the face of increasing protests in Britain and the possibility of a boycott of their extensive sales in the United States.

A total of 342 children were born crippled, many without arms and legs, after their mothers took the tranquilizing drug during pregnancy more than 10 years ago.

Several previous offers of compensation made by the company have been rejected by representatives of the crippled children. The latest offer, however, was roughly the figure which representatives have described as acceptable.

The new offer came as legislators, trade unionists and others joined in emotional protests over delays in payments and the "Scrooge-like" attitude of the company.

Some chains of British supermarkets said they would stop selling Distillers' long list of products.

A representative of the thalidomide victims' parents went to the United States to discuss a possible boycott of Distillers' extensive sales there with consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

In a statement, Distillers said it would make the compensation available in equal annual payments of $4.8 million over 10 years "in order to fund a charitable trust for the benefit of all the thalidomide children."

The company said it would also make available $12,000 to the parents of each child affected.

Pardon The Yawn

Now that doctors have discovered that yawning is a good form of exercise, many persons will be hopeful that some of their companions will realize that they've just been trying to reduce their jowls. Before the doctors made this discovery, yawning was regarded as one of the worst roots of all evils. To yawn in the middle of a superior's face of the lady of the house, mere man's estate was likely to get one a harangue or worse. And when one yawned in the face of the lady of the house, mere man's estate was likely to look like Managua after the earthquake. Fortunately, those moments are gone forever. When the word gets around that yawning is legitimate healthy-giving exercise, many of those who stifled yawns for years will be like frogs who would die if they couldn't croak.

Fed Makes The News

A 10-point boost in margin requirements — the amount buyers of stocks must put up in cash when buying on margin — has had mineral effect on the stock market. Some years ago the margin was 100 percent, which meant stock buyers couldn't borrow any of the money.

But by getting back into the news with its margin order, the Federal Reserve Board gave evidence that it was still alive and functioning as it was intended to do. This independent agency was sidetracked and its money management powers assumed by the Treasury last year.

Until then, the rediscount rate set by the Federal Reserve figured prominently in the news. This is the interest rate banks pay when they borrow money from the Federal Reserve Banks. Not one laymen in a hundred could say what this rate is today.

Lifting margin requirements may not have much effect on the stock market, but the action reinstated the Fed in the regulatory news from Washington.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I know that the stomach contains hydrochloric acid. I also know that this powerful acid can destroy metal.

I asked my teacher why the hydrochloric acid in the stomach doesn't dissolve the stomach itself. She told me to look it up, and I can't find the answer anywhere.

Miss F.B.B., Tenn.

Dear Miss B.:

The question is an enchanting one and has been the source of study for many years by scientists.

The stomach juices, the digestive enzymes, and the hydrochloric acid are kept from "destroying" the stomach by the protective lining and the cells in that lining.

It seems that these cells act as a remarkable protective barrier and, in a complicated way, keep the acid from injuring the stomach itself.

Under some circumstances, the hydrochloric acid and the juices do produce ulcers which may even penetrate through the stomach wall if untreated.

New knowledge about the resisting power of the protective barrier in the stomach is constantly being sought. Much is known, but there are wonders of the body that still elude even the most diligent scientists.

What is the difference between an osteopath and a chiropractor? Do they have the same schooling?

Mrs. H.B., N.Y.

Dear Mrs. B.:

These two fields are distinctly separate from the point of view of training.

Both are involved with the manipulation of the bones and the joints of the body.

Here the similarity stops.

A Doctor of Osteopathy is one who has completed a four-year course in the techniques of osteopathy. Although he does not have an M.D. degree, he does have a D.O. degree.

He can treat patients with drugs and can perform surgery. He can become a specialist in any of a number of different areas.

Doctors of Osteopathy have attained positions in universities and in hospitals, and are respected members of the medical community.

A chiropractor uses the title Doctor of Chiropractic.

The chiropractor uses manipulative treatment on the spine and the bones of the body. He is not permitted to prescribe drugs nor to perform surgery.

I have previously mentioned that when chiropractors know their limitations and work under the supervision of physicians or osteopaths they can be a real contribution to some patients.

When, however, a chiropractor presumes to be an all-encompassing diagnostician there is the danger that some basic, underlying disease may be overlooked.

Hike Tariff On Michelin Tire Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department Friday substantially increased tariffs against a big French tire maker whose plant in Canada received large government subsidies to the disadvantage of U.S. tire manufacturers.

Asst. Treasury Secretary Eugene Rossides said the action against Michelin Tire Ltd. of Canada was the first of its kind.

He said it is intended to signal to other countries that the United States will not allow foreign or domestic manufacturers to make inroads into American markets through the use of unfair government subsidies.

Specifically, the Treasury Department increased from 4 per cent to 10.6 per cent the duty on the 1973 factory price for Michelin X-Radial Steel-belted tires which are manufactured in Nova Scotia, a Canadian province.

Rossides said the department acted because the Michelin plant in Canada won government grants totaling more than $23 million and a $50 million low-interest loan from the government. In addition, local property tax assessments were reduced.

The plant was built specifically to allow Michelin to compete among American makers of radial tires, Rossides said.

Smaller Steel Inventories Seen For Beginning Of Year

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Steel users started a new year with smaller inventories of the metal than at the beginning of any recent year, Industry Week magazine said today.

"Not only were there fewer tons of steel in users' inventories at the start of 1973 but, in days of supply, they were much lower than last year because of the higher rate at which steel is being used," the magazine said.

It added that without a large cushion of inventories and with consumption at a high level, steel buyers will have to figure their purchases closely to make sure that steel will arrive when needed.

"At the beginning of January last year, the nation's manufacturing plants had 10 million net tons of steel on hand," Industry Week said. It estimated that at the beginning of 1973 they had only slightly more than nine million tons, the lowest since the start of 1963.

"With steel users determined to keep their inventories low and to depend upon mills for one-time deliveries," Industry Week continued, "U.S. mills

The magazine said the high demand is expected to put firstquarter U.S. mill shipments close to the 24.5 million net tons during the fourth quarter of 1972.

U.S. raw steel output in 1972 totaled approximately 133.1 million net tons, compared with 120,443,000 tons in 1971, Industry Week said. It estimated last week's production at 2,665,000 net tons.

The bright outlook for steel production is pushing up prices of scrap, a raw material for steelmaking. Industry Week's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap rose last week to $46.17 per gross ton from the preceding week's $44.83.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Break The Chain Or Break The Law

DEAR ABBY: In regard to that lady who felt guilty if she didn't continue to circulate "chain letters," please tell her she should feel guilty if she DOES. They are against the law and should be turned over to the local postmaster.

Only last week I received a "prayer" chain letter in the mail. It said: "Trust in the Lord Jesus Christ with all your heart and always acknowledge Him and He will light your way. This prayer has been sent to you to bring you luck. The original copy came from the Holy Land and has been sent around the world 23 times. Make four copies and send them to your friends. You must do this within four days or you will suffer dire consequences. One man in Hawaii broke the chain and on the sixth day he died. On the seventh day he won $50,000, which he was unable to collect."

Such rot!
I am a Presbyterian minister, over 80 years of age. I still preach every Sunday and I believe in prayer, but I broke the chain, and my "four days" are long past and I still feel great!

I shall surely tell my congregation to forward any chain letters to their postmaster and feel repaid for having headed off at least one more piece of superstitious junk.

PLAIN TALKER IN PHILADELPHIA

DEAR PLAIN: For another point of view, let's hear it from a reader in Coon Rapids, Minn.

DEAR ABBY: You have said many times in your column that it is not considered good etiquette to put "No children, please" on wedding reception invitations.

Well, I don't care what you say. If you had to pay a caterer $15 a person you would make sure Mom and Pop didn't bring their six kids along to get a free meal.

Some people have to be told in plain English to leave their kids at home, and I say, "TELL 'EM!"

HAROLD A. SMITH,
ATLANTIC, IA.

DEAR REV. SMITH: Thanks, and I'll tell my readers the same.

DEAR ABBY: So often you hear from people who want to exclude children from a wedding reception. I find this distressing. Such occasions are ideal for families to be together. The father has to work away from his home all day, and in many cases the mother also works. The kids are involved in their various school, activities, or just left to bum around with their peers while the parents run off and leave them.

Children should be included with their parents at weddings so they will see the beauty and sacredness of a marriage ceremony. And at the reception, if the refreshments were limited to cookies and punch, children could be included without running the cost up. Who cares what is served? After all, people are supposed to be celebrating the union of two people in love-not food and drink!

The family unit is held together by love and togetherness. It is the only thing that will keep our country strong and save mankind from destroying itself. Where else but with his parents should a child learn how adults should conduct themselves?

MARY K. BERG

DEAR ABBY: To the lady with four children by her first husband who married a man who had five children by his first wife and was frequently asked, "Are all those children yours?" here is the best reply I've ever heard:

When traveling by train from Wichita, Kas., to Oklahoma, a lady with 11 children was seated just ahead of us. The conductor asked, "Are all these children yours, lady, or is it a picnic?"

She replied, "Yes, they are all mine. And since you asked, it sure ain't no picnic!"

Smaller Steel Inventories Seen For Beginning Of Year

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Steel users started a new year with smaller inventories of the metal than at the beginning of any recent year, Industry Week magazine said today.

"Not only were there fewer tons of steel in users' inventories at the start of 1973 but, in days of supply, they were much lower than last year because of the higher rate at which steel is being used," the magazine said.

It added that without a large cushion of inventories and with consumption at a high level, steel buyers will have to figure their purchases closely to make sure that steel will arrive when needed.

"At the beginning of January last year, the nation's manufacturing plants had 10 million net tons of steel on hand," Industry Week said. It estimated that at the beginning of 1973 they had only slightly more than nine million tons, the lowest since the start of 1963.

"With steel users determined to keep their inventories low and to depend upon mills for one-time deliveries," Industry Week continued, "U.S. mills

Solon's Long Hair

Brings Ouster

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A California legislator barred from a posh restaurant because of his hair length says he will introduce a bill to prevent liquor license holders from refusing service for that reason.

"My hair isn't that long; it barely goes over the collar," Democratic Assemblyman John Burton said Friday.

"I don't want to go, but my father—who is old and not well—digs the place," Burton said.

Burton said he was told he couldn't be served because of a policy at the bar against serving long-haired men.

have boosted their inventories so as to be able to fill orders when wanted. From a total of 19.7 million net tons at the mills on Jan. 1 a year ago, their inventories rose to 21.6 million tons by the beginning of November, latest government figures show."

The magazine said the high demand is expected to put firstquarter U.S. mill shipments close to the 24.5 million net tons during the fourth quarter of 1972.

U.S. raw steel output in 1972 totaled approximately 133.1 million net tons, compared with 120,443,000 tons in 1971, Industry Week said. It estimated last week's production at 2,665,000 net tons.

The bright outlook for steel production is pushing up prices of scrap, a raw material for steelmaking. Industry Week's price composite on No. 1 heavy melting steelmaking scrap rose last week to $46.17 per gross ton from the preceding week's $44.83.

Ask the Lindsay Lady

Q. What's all this commotion about phosphates in detergents?

A. Phosphates which make up a substantial part of synthetic detergents, can disturb the natural, or ecological, balance of streams and lakes. Phosphates nourish algae. As algae becomes overabundant, it clogs lakes and removes oxygen, killing fish and other plant life. Soap, unlike synthetic detergents, contains only those ingredients necessary for soft water washing.

Q. How do I do right by the vitamins when cooking fresh vegetables?

A. A little tender, loving care, please! Wash vegetables thoroughly but don't soak them. Cook vegetables in as little water as possible, as quickly as possible and, when you can, cook vegetables whole—without dicing, chopping or peeling. If you're lucky enough to be using soft water, here are a few bonuses. You'll remove garden soil more easily and you'll bring out the full natural colors of the produce. The results—garden-fresh vegetables that look better and taste better.

Q. Is it true that dish towels are unsanitary?

A. Yes, sad but true for those of us still doing dishes by hand. Authorities say that draining and air drying is better than wiping them. With hard water, however, streaks and spots can occur. But with soft water, everything sparkles even when left to drain and dry by itself. And, note this, in all cases soft water improves machine dishwashing results.

Turner In Uphill Fight To Gain Senate Seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican friends of defeated Robin Turner of Marion feel he doesn't have a chance in his attempt to dislodge Gene Slagle of Galion from the Senate seat Turner once held.

Turner, a maverick Republican, is counting on his colleagues to restore him to the seat. They are anything but eager to do it.

Claiming there were election irregularities in two counties, Turner filed suit in the Ohio Supreme Court. The court, under the law, gathers the facts and lets the Senate itself make the decision. "Unless Turner can prove outright fraud, he had better forget it," one Republican said. "I can't see replacing a man the voters have selected."

An official count showed that Slagle, an auctioneer, won by 155 votes. The unofficial count earlier had him winning by 152.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, with a current 17-16 edge, probably has mixed feelings about Turner coming back.

On one hand, he needs him to fatten the Republican margin but on the other he probably rests better knowing he doesn't have to fight Turner as well as Democrats each day.

Slagle's attachment to the 26th District seat grew stronger when the Senate, with Gray's approval, decided to seat him last Monday. It will be tough to dislodge a man who has already taken the oath.

Another problem could develop if Turner is seated. What would be the status of legislation Slagle's lone vote had decided?

With the Senate not expected to act on the issue before April or May, that situation could arise.

The Rev. Alvin Duane Smith, chaplain of the House when Republicans were in charge, failed his chance to keep the post under Democrats.

Smith, who opened the new session, noted that Democrats said they may keep him on if he came up with a prayer that provided Ohio State University with a Rose Bowl victory.

Smith, after praying for divine guidance for the legislators, asked the Lord's help for Ohio State's football team.

They lost 41-17.

The House has a new chaplain. The Democratic pledge of no new taxes this session of the legislature had hardly been made when a resolution came sailing into the House that could raise property taxes statewide.

Ironically, the Vietnam veterans bonus bill was offered by Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, speaker pro tem. He was one of those who pledged no new taxes.

"It is my judgment this is not a new tax," Riffe explained. "It's rewarding our Vietnam veterans same as we did after World War II and the Korean War."

Under the constitutional amendment proposal which would have to be approved by voters in November, $300 million in bonds would be issued.

The bonds would be retired with a property tax increase, amount unknown. It would be established later by a Vietnam War Bonus Fund Commission.

At the opening of the 110th General Assembly, State Rep. Richard F. Celeste, D-5 Cleveland, made an apparent mistake in his selection of words in a nominating speech.

Celeste had taken the floor to nominate State Rep. Vernal G. Riffe Jr., R-89 New Boston, as speaker pro tem of the House.

He said, "It's with great pride and pressure . . . pleasure I nominate . . ."

State Board Eyes Special Education

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Board of Education was to review an interim report special education for the state when it met today, for the first time in 1973.

Last year's legislature ordered the board to develop a comprehensive plan for special education by July 1. The board was also told to submit an interim report to the chairman of the education committees of both houses by Feb. 1.

Also on the board's agenda was selection of a president to succeed Bryce Weiker of Tiffin. Weiker did not seek re-election to the board.

In addition, the 23 board members will draw lots to see how long their terms will be. From now on, the board will be elected to staggered, six-year terms with one-third of its members elected every two years.

All 23 of the current members were elected last November. To begin the new system, seven will serve two years, seven for four years and eight for six years.

The board will be asked to dissolve the existing Neil A. Armstrong Joint Vocational School District and establish a new one. The new district will include the Wapakoneta City Schools in Auglaize County and the Elida, Bath, and Shawnee Local Schools of Allen County.

Districts that will have an option to join include Bluffton Exempted Village School District and the local districts of Spencerville, Allen East and Perry in Allen County, and the Ada Exempted Village School District in Hardin County.

Turner In Uphill Fight To Gain Senate Seat

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican friends of defeated Robin Turner of Marion feel he doesn't have a chance in his attempt to dislodge Gene Slagle of Gallon from the Senate seat Turner once held.

Turner, a maverick Republican, is counting on his colleagues to restore him to the seat. They are anything but eager to do it.

Claiming there were election irregularities in two counties, Turner filed suit in the Ohio Supreme Court. The court, under the law, gathers the facts and lets the Senate itself make the decision.

"Unless Turner can prove outright fraud, he had better forget it," one Republican said. "I can't see replacing a man the voters have selected."

An official count showed that Slagle, an auctioneer, won by 155 votes. The unofficial count earlier had him winning by 152.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, with a current 17-16 edge, probably has mixed feelings about Turner coming back.

On one hand, he needs him to fatten the Republican margin but on the other he probably rests better knowing he doesn't have to fight Turner as well as Democrats each day.

Circleville Wrestlers Cop Tri

Circleville's wrestling squad opened the home season Saturday with a convincing win over Teays Valley and Columbus Central in a triangular meet.

The Tigers tallied 106 points to capture the event, Teays Valley took second spot with 77 markers and Central finished last with 26 tallies. In the dual scoring Circleville defeated Central 63-3 and downed the Vikings 43-27. Teays Valley won over Central 50-23.

Double winners for the Tigers were: Ben McDaniel, 105-pound; Steve Watters, 112; Joe Smith, 119; Don Seyfang, 126; Dave Webb, 132; Jim Payne, 138; Stuart Moore, 175; Tom Frericks, Hvy.

Gaining double wins for Teays Valley were: Clyde Radabaugh, 98-pound; Bill Hurley, 145; Jim Williamson, 167; Howard Reed, 185. Columbus Central only brought six wrestlers to the meet which caused quite a few forfeits and prevented Circleville and Teays Valley from gaining experience in some of the weight classes.

Gary Morgan, the Tigers 167-pound grappler, was injured in an auto accident Friday night and was unable to compete in the meet.

"Overall I think our boys showed improvement and looked good in all their matches," Circleville Coach Brent Bell commented. "Teays Valley is a rapidly improving squad and should do well when the district competition rolls around," Bell stated.

Here are the complete results of the meet:

Round One — 98-pound — Forfeit, Circleville and Central; 105 — Ben McDaniel (C) decisioned Kevin Archer (TV), 13-0; 112 — Gary Webb (TV) won by forfeit over Central; 119 — Joe Smith (C) decisioned Swank (CEN), 9-1; 126 — Don Seyfang (C) pinned Ron Foreman (TV), 5:01; 132 — Roush (CEN) pinned Don Burgoon (TV), 40 seconds; 138 — Jim Payne (C) won by forfeit over Central; 145 — Bill Hurley (TV) pinned Roger Davis (C), 2:37; 155 — Bill Breen (TV) and Poling (CEN) draw, 2-2; 167 — Bob Featherolf (C) won by forfeit over Central; 175 — Stuart Moore (C) pinned Jim Pritchard (TV), 1:50; 185 — Howard Reed (TV) won by forfeit

Islanders, Golden Seals Lose Hockey Clashes

Let's have three cheers ... but no goals ... for the New York Islanders and the California Golden Seals—last in the National Hockey League but first in the hearts of enemy goaltenders.

Proving that they're just as good—or, rather, just as bad—on the road as at home, the hapless expansion Islanders dropped a 4-0 decision Sunday to the Red Wings in Detroit. One night earlier they lost at home, to the same team, by the same score.

The Tigers smoked the nets with 47 shots from the floor in 79 attempts for a blistering 59 per cent. They also converted seven out of 10 from the charity stripe.

The early moments of the game turned into a scoring battle between Hoskins of Circleville and Easterday of Westfall with the Red and Black holding an 8-7 edge with 3:49 left in the canto. Five straight buckets by the Tigers opened the gap to 18-7 with 2:01 still on the clock and it was all over but the shouting.

front 68-39 at the conclusion of the third frame.

The Tigers are now 8-1 for the season, 3-1 in the South Central Ohio League, and will host Greenfield Friday night in a SCOL clash.

Westfall is still looking for its first win of the season with a mark of 0-11 and will host Piketon in a Scioto Valley Conference tilt Friday night and will be at Greenfield Saturday night.

Rod Funseth Wins L.A. Golf Open

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rod Funseth, who admits to some occasional negative thinking, called his wife, Sandi, after the third round of the $135,000 Glen Campbell-Los Angeles Open golf tournament.

"I've got a 17-stroke lead over last place," the curly-haired, soft-spoken Funseth told her.

Sandi, no negative thinker, promptly put two bottles of champagne on ice. She had the right instincts.

Funseth, who has made a 13-year career as a supporting player to the likes of Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino, scored a solid, methodical, almost pedestrian threestroke victory Sunday in the event that opens a 12 months schedule on the pro tour.

"I'm so negative, if I had a 10-stroke lead, I'd be afraid I was going to fall and break a leg," the 39-year-old Funseth said. "Sandi's a lot different, just the opposite. She gets so mad at me sometimes."

Not this time.

Funseth stroked irons to within almost tap-in distance for consecutive birdies on the eighth and ninth holes, parred the last nine in routine fashion as he pumped shot after shot to the middle of the green and finished with a two-under-par 69 for a 276 total on the 7,028-yard Riviera Country Club course.

Joe Paterno Nixes Deal With Patriots

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Joe Paterno, admitting he wants to be more than a football coach who has to win to remain employed, says that was why he decided not to jump to the National Football League.

Ending weeks of speculation, Paterno shocked many people Saturday morning when he told newsmen, "I've decided to remain at Penn State."

The 46-year-old Paterno rejected an offer to become coach-general manager of the New England Patriots of the NFL. The offer included a stock interest in the franchise.

"Now I feel that I have some type of national recognition," Brown said when informed of his selection as MVP. "I want to be recognized as a good running back, not one that has a good year, then fades away."

When the ground game is shut off, Brown, a 5-foot-11, 195-pound former blocking back at Kansas State, becomes a dangerous receiver. The New York Jets found that out this year when they held Brown to only 48 yards on the ground, but he caught three passes for 96 yards, including a 89-yard touchdown.

"Larry Brown is the game's greatest runner," Washington Coach George Allen said unashamedly.

In the year of the running back, Brown was supreme, finishing the year with 1,216 yards on 285 carries to lead the National Conference.

He would almost certainly have won the NFL rushing crown if he had not suffered a slight injury late in the year. Allen benched Brown for the regular season's two final games so he could recuperate for the playoffs.

The rest allowed Buffalo's O.J. Simpson to slip past Brown on the last day and win the title with 1,251 yards, just 35 more than the Redskin runner.

Brown garnered 45 of the 75 votes cast by the nationwide panel of pro football writers to easily capture the MVP award. Miami Dolphin quarterback Earl Morrall was second with 10 votes.

Simpson finished in a three-way tie for third as he, Miami running back Larry Csonka and New York Jets quarterback Joe Namath received four votes apiece.

Circleville Wrestlers Cop Tri

Circleville's wrestling squad opened the home season Saturday with a convincing win over Teays Valley and Columbus Central in a triangular meet.

The Tigers tallied 106 points to capture the event, Teays Valley took second spot with 77 markers and Central finished last with 26 tallies. In the dual scoring Circleville defeated Central 63-3 and downed the Vikings 43-27. Teays Valley won over Central 50-23.

Double winners for the Tigers were: Ben McDaniel, 105-pound; Steve Watters, 112; Joe Smith, 119; Don Seyfang, 126; Dave Webb, 132; Jim Payne, 138; Stuart Moore, 175; Tom Frericks, Hvy.

Gaining double wins for Teays Valley were: Clyde Radabaugh, 98-pound; Bill Hurley, 145; Jim Williamson, 167; Howard Reed, 185. Columbus Central only brought six wrestlers to the meet which caused quite a few forfeits and prevented Circleville and Teays Valley from gaining experience in some of the weight classes.

Gary Morgan, the Tigers 167-pound grappler, was injured in an auto accident Friday night and was unable to compete in the meet.

"Overall I think our boys showed improvement and looked good in all their matches," Circleville Coach Brent Bell commented. "Teays Valley is a rapidly improving squad and should do well when the district competition rolls around," Bell stated.

Proving that they're just as good—or, rather, just as bad—on the road as at home, the hapless expansion Islanders dropped a 4-0 decision Sunday to the Red Wings in Detroit. One night earlier they lost at home, to the same team, by the same score.

Toledo Rockets Defeat OU, 72-55

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "It was one of my greatest thrills," Toledo center Tom Kozelko exclaimed. He wasn't referring to his 28 points and 12-for-12 performance at the freethrow line as the Rockets whipped Ohio University 72-55 in a Mid-American Conference basketball game Saturday night.

The 6-foot-8 senior was elated over the fact that Toledo finally had beaten the Bobcats after 10 straight losses. Kozelko said "breaking that streak . . . and just beating Ohio U" was one of the high points of his college career. The game evened the league marks of both teams at 1-1.

Meanwhile, Miami stayed on top of the MAC standings with a 2-0 record by defeating Bowling Green 67-62, and Kent State, playing in its first conference game of the season, trimmed Western Michigan 80-77.

Toledo Coach Bob Nichols declined to single out any players in the Rockets' big win over OU, favored to capture the MAC title this year.

"They all played great ball," he said. "They knew they were capable of playing better than they had shown. It means a lot when you've been down and people have been kicking at you."

A jubilant Mike Parker, Toledo's supersub, added, "That was the most I've been fired up for any game. We thought we could do it . . . we had to."

The game was nip-and-tuck until Toledo broke a 44-44 tie midway through the second half and rolled on to victory.

"We were outrebounded and outthrustled," said Bobcat Coach Jim

Snyder. "We were standing around and watching."

Foul shots made the difference in both the Miami and Kent State victories.

Miami and Bowling Green each had 28 field goals, but the Redskins connected on six more free throws. Two foul shots apiece by Rich Hampton and Larry Garlough iced the triumph for Miami.

Hampton, who had missed two free throws a few seconds earlier, said he thought to himself: "Help me Lord." He said the Falcons "thought I'd be shook up, but I wasn't."

Bowling Green Coach Pat Haley admitted he had his team purposely foul Hampton. "We thought he'd miss again, but he didn't," he said.

The loss was Bowling Green's first in two league games.

Kent State actually netted four less baskets than Western Michigan, but outgunned the Broncos by 11 free throws. The Golden Falcons hit 18 of 21 charity tosses, including 13 of 16 in the second half.

"It was probably our best game of the season," said KSU Coach Frank Truitt. "We really enjoy winning a close game once in a while."

Western Michigan is languishing in the league cellar with an 0-2 mark. Of that, Broncos Coach Eldon Mille said, "We haven't started as fast as we wanted to. The only thing we can do now is pick up the pieces and go from here."

The other MAC team, Central Michigan, was idle Saturday. It has a 2-3 conference record.

In other Ohio college basketball games Saturday, Michigan downed Ohio State 68-62 for its first victory on the Buckeye floor since 1966. Sophomore Campy Russell led the Wolverine attack with 23 points, eight of them in a Michigan secondhalf surge that put the game out of reach.

Dayton shot a sizzling 74 per cent from the field in the first half and guard Don Smith swished 32 of his total 44 points in the period as the Flyers rolled to a 98-82 victory over Xavier.

Other results: Mount Union 96, Denison 75; Wittenberg 62, Baldwin-Wallace 54; Defiance 78, Bluffton 71; Findlay 87, Anderson, Ind. 68; John Carroll 71, Washington & Jefferson 57; Muskingum 57, Heidelberg 49; Point Park, Pa. 77, Central State 55.

Toledo Rockets Defeat OU, 72-55

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "It was one of my greatest thrills," Toledo center Tom Kozelko exclaimed. He wasn't referring to his 28 points and 12-for-12 performance at the freethrow line as the Rockets whipped Ohio University 72-55 in a Mid-American Conference basketball game Saturday night.

The 6-foot-8 senior was elated over the fact that Toledo finally had beaten the Bobcats after 10 straight losses. Kozelko said "breaking that streak . . . and just beating Ohio U" was one of the high points of his college career. The game evened the league marks of both teams at 1-1.

Meanwhile, Miami stayed on top of the MAC standings with a 2-0 record by defeating Bowling Green 67-62, and Kent State, playing in its first conference game of the season, trimmed Western Michigan 80-77.

Toledo Coach Bob Nichols declined to single out any players in the Rockets' big win over OU, favored to capture the MAC title this year.

"They all played great ball," he said. "They knew they were capable of playing better than they had shown. It means a lot when you've been down and people have been kicking at you."

A jubilant Mike Parker, Toledo's supersub, added, "That was the most I've been fired up for any game. We thought we could do it . . . we had to."

The game was nip-and-tuck until Toledo broke a 44-44 tie midway through the second half and rolled on to victory.

"We were outrebounded and outthustled," said Bobcat Coach Jim

Snyder. "We were standing around and watching."

Foul shots made the difference in both the Miami and Kent State victories.

Miami and Bowling Green each had 28 field goals, but the Redskins connected on six more free throws. Two foul shots apiece by Rich Hampton and Larry Garlough iced the triumph for Miami.

Hampton, who had missed two free throws a few seconds earlier, said he thought to himself: "Help me Lord." He said the Falcons "thought I'd be shook up, but I wasn't."

Bowling Green Coach Pat Haley admitted he had his team purposely foul Hampton. "We thought he'd miss again, but he didn't," he said.

The loss was Bowling Green's first in two league games.

Kent State actually netted four less baskets than Western Michigan, but outgunned the Broncos by 11 free throws. The Golden Falcons hit 18 of 21 charity tosses, including 13 of 16 in the second half.

"It was probably our best game of the season," said KSU Coach Frank Truitt. "We really enjoy winning a close game once in a while."

Western Michigan is languishing in the league cellar with an 0-2 mark. Of that, Broncos Coach Eldon Mille said, "We haven't started as fast as we wanted to. The only thing we can do now is pick up the pieces and go from here."

Views On TV And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — William F. Buckley's "Firing Line" on public television will stand down next May unless the Corporation for Public Broadcasting has a last-minute change of heart.

The one-hour show, first aired on public television in May 1971, was put on "deferred" status by CPB when the agency approved 30 other shows for the 1973 fall season.

An option to renew the show expired New Year's Day without CPB action. And the contract that now keeps new "Firing Line" segments on the air ends May 1.

Several other hard-hitting public-affairs programs — most notably "Bill Moyers' Journal" and "Washington Week in Review" — also are missing from CPB's approved list for next fall.

But the absence of "Firing Line" from the list surprised many who have enjoyed the probing questions and sophisticated, sardonic repartee of an eloquent conservative.

It startled Buckley, too. "I was told this was going to happen about three weeks ago, but I was very much surprised at that particular point because the program has rated very high among stations," he said.

Did CPB explain why "Firing Line" was deferred? "They said they were going to do away with all public-affairs programs that are centered on an individual," Buckley said. "In other words, they will finance documentaries and that kind of thing, but they will decline henceforth to back any public-affairs programs in which an individual is in the center."

Henry Loomis, the new CPB president, gave a different explanation last month in a separate interview in which he was asked why the Buckley and Moyers shows were being deferred.

Buckley says he thinks the CPB is trying to eliminate public-affairs programming but he doesn't view the move as an attack on him personally.

"I know it's not an attack on me because, after all, I'm simply part of a category," he said. "And it's the whole of the category that is being let go, so I don't take it personally at all."

"Firing Line" began in 1966 as a syndicated show for commercial television. Buckley did 240 of those shows before switching to public television and logging another 72 programs.

What now?

"I hope to stay in public television, but I'm not making any commitment," he said. "I may go back to commercial."

Views On TV And Radio

NEW YORK (AP) — William F. Buckley's "Firing Line" on public television will stand down next May unless the Corporation for Public Broadcasting has a last-minute change of heart.

The one-hour show, first aired on public television in May 1971, was put on "deferred" status by CPB when the agency approved 30 other shows for the 1973 fall season.

An option to renew the show expired New Year's Day without CPB action. And the contract that now keeps New "Firing Line" segments on the air ends May 1.

Several other hard-hitting public-affairs programs — most notably "Bill Moyers' Journal" and "Washington Week in Review" — also are missing from CPB's approved list for next fall.

But the absence of "Firing Line" from the list surprised many who have enjoyed the probing questions and sophisticated, sardonic repartee of an eloquent conservative.

It startled Buckley, too. "I was told this was going to happen about three weeks ago, but I was very much surprised at that particular point because the program has rated very high among stations," he said.

Did CPB explain why "Firing Line" was deferred?

"They said they were going to do away with all public-affairs programs that are centered on an individual," Buckley said. "In other words, they will finance documentaries and that kind of thing, but they will decline henceforth to back any public-affairs programs in which an individual is in the center."

Henry Loomis, the new CPB president, gave a different explanation last month in a separate interview in which he was asked why the Buckley and Moyers shows were being deferred.

Buckley says he thinks the CPB is trying to eliminate public-affairs programming but he doesn't view the move as an attack on him personally.

"I know it's not an attack on me because, after all, I'm simply part of a category," he said. "And it's the whole of the category that is being let go, so I don't take it personally at all."

"Firing Line" began in 1966 as a syndicated show for commercial television. Buckley did 240 of those shows before switching to public television and logging another 72 programs.

What now?

"I hope to stay in public television, but I'm not making any commitment," he said. "I may go back to commercial."

State To Promote Foreign Trade Via Computer Use

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's Division of International Trade plans to begin an innovative computer program Feb. 1 to spur the state's export business.

Division Director Merrill Katz said the purpose of the program will be to provide Ohio manufacturers interested in foreign trade with fast, specialized information about prospective export markets around the world.

Katz, named division director in December, conceived the idea and says that it is unmatched in the United States.

"By direct mail and advertising, we are going to request Ohio manufacturers to contact us and advise us of their interests in developing an export market," he said. "We, in turn, will supply them with a listing of foreign manufacturers, distributors or wholesalers in countries that are particularly interested in their products."

For instance, he said, "We know the market for frozen cattle semen is in South America and Australia and not in Europe, where counterparts of our Food and Drug Administration do not permit such exports."

Katz said the state will supply the Ohio manufacturer with about 10 companies in each of three countries with whom they can correspond.

One of the innovations of the program will be speed. He said when Ohio manufacturers contact the division for a list of export possibilities, "we will give them answers in 15 working days. Our program of direct mail has been taking 35 to 77 days and costing $5 to $50. Now we will be able to provide the information free to any Ohio manufacturers."

Lighting Night No Curb To Cleveland Crime Rise

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Cleveland is scheduled to complete its $6.5 million anticrime street lighting program this year, but the final bulb won't be screwed in with quite the same expectations that flowered in the light of the first.

Crime in Cleveland, apparently briskly efficient under all sorts of light, has nearly doubled in the six years since the program began. Police listed 32,371 reportable crimes in 1966 and 59,593 in 1971.

Figures for 1972 are still incomplete, but street lighting officials admit few Clevelanders will notice any immediate decrease from the brighter streets.

The program began under a $1 million appropriation, substituting traditional street lights with the three-times brighter mercury bulbs. Over the years since, another $6.5 million has gone toward the better lighting.

Raymond K. Miller, chief of the city's street lighting bureau, feels that the brighter streets were unfairly tested over the six years.

Police layoffs by former Mayor Carl Stokes and inferior police equipment probably hampered the lighting's effect, he said.

Current Mayor Ralph Perk, who is openly hoping for a crime decrease this year, has poured $3 million into the street lights, beefed up the police department's fleet of squad cars and also announced plans to increase the force by 188 men.

"You can't quote figures on reduced crime and say the better lighting did it, unless the enforcement in the neighborhoods was adequate," Miller said.

City Utilities Director Raymond Kudukis, noting that much of the brighter lighting was installed on the city's West Side where crimes are fewer, argues that "if the lights hadn't been installed, crime rates might have increased even more since 1966."

Another problem that has cropped up so far is the matter of burned out bulbs, although the city has started to recruit neighborhood organizations to keep watch over their own street lights.

Massage Parlor Operators Angry At Tarnished Image

By LYNNE OLSON

Gertrude Fuller receives obscene phone calls from men who think she's a prostitute because she advertises massages. The state-licensed masseuse is 73 years old.

Anne Marie Skaar, a pleasant-faced, middle-aged blonde chiropractor who gives massages, often answers her clinic door to find a startled man who "takes one look at me and my diplomas and then runs."

Mrs. Fuller and Miss Skaar, like hundreds of other legitimate masseuses around the country, say they've been humiliated and embarrassed because of the trend in many major cities toward using massage parlors as fronts for prostitution.

An official of the American Massage and Therapy Association says some massage practitioners have been forced out of business because of a loss of clients due to bad publicity given massage parlors.

"I never call myself a masseuse," says Miss Skaar, who works in New York City. "When you mention that name, you're automatically considered a prostitute. You're connected with sex for sale."

"I've received so many calls—I can't repeat what they say because it turns my stomach. I used to be willing to go out on house calls, but now I don't dare. I just couldn't take the chance."

Miss Skaar says she's thinking about returning to her native Norway because "there, massage is a profession. You're respected, looked up to, the way you should be."

With quiet bitterness, she adds: "Massage is the oldest form of healing art. It's a shame they've ruined this beautiful profession like they have."

Orange Soil Said Young For Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The men who found it say an orange soil discovered on the moon may be only about 10 million years old, the youngest lunar material ever brought to earth.

Apollo 17 astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Harrison H. Schmitt and Ronald E. Evans said in a news conference Friday that the soil, which Schmitt and Cernan discovered while exploring the moon's surface, may fill in later chapters of the moon's history.

"It has to be very young," said Schmitt, a geologist and the first American scientist to fly into space. "My guess would be about 10 million years."

If true, the Apollo 17 material will post-date all other moon material brought to earth. The youngest found on previous Apollo missions was about one billion years old.

Schmitt said the discovery "means that the moon is still active enough to produce volcanic rock."

Many scientists had earlier believed that the moon was geologically dead and had been dead for about three billion years.

S. Bloomfield Sewage Project Initiated

The village council of South Bloomfield is starting a sewerage project. Ohio Environment Protection Agency and the Farmer's Home Administration will be providing grant and loan money for said project.

Council members and interested citizens will be contacting village property owners during January, to sign them up for the project. A deposit of $100 for tap fee will be charged at the time of sign up or $25 with three more payments of $25 within six months. Property owners not contacted, should call Mayor David Dresbach, at 983-2931 or Fern L. Bozman, clerk-treasurer at 983-2233. The loan will be repaid by revenue bonds, therefore there will not be any assessment charge to property owners, except for the $100 tap on fee. If project should be abandoned, money will be promptly refunded.

Council members who will be contacting property owners are, Russell Toole, Mrs. Mary Ellen Thomas, Roger Matzenbach, Ronald Little, Joseph Gerchy, and Dale Pettibone. The firm of Dummond - Sifford Associates are doing the engineering on the project.

Four-year-old Tarmara Hartshorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Hartshorn, Laurelville, was admitted to Children's Hospital, Columbus, for treatment of burns over "50 to 60 per cent" of her body, according to Laurelville Fire chief Lynn Summers. Her condition is critical.

Chief Summers said the fire department was called to the Sheridan Drive mobile home owned by the Hartshorns 8 p.m. Sunday. The youngster had apparently caught herself on fire, according to the report, and the fire spread to her bed and bedroom.

Damage to the trailer was valued at $75 and to the room's contents at $250. The fire was extinguished by the 12-man volunteer fire unit.

Car Crash Injures 3

An accident Sunday afternoon at the junction of Routes 104 and 665 resulted in injuries to three persons, including an Ashville resident.

Floyd F. Pabst, 55, of Ashville, reported injury after he struck the rear of a car operated by a Jackson man, William E. Stanley, 65. Stanley and his wife, Donna, age 64, both suffered slight injuries.

Ptl. Whitt of the Highway Patrol indicated that Stanley had come to a stop at the intersection, headed east on 665. He then pulled out into the path of Pabst's car. Both vehicles had to be towed away.

Sentence Man For Break-In

Acting Common Pleas Judge Guy Cline handed down a 1-5 year penitentiary sentence on Roger Jackson Friday.

Jackson, along with Martha May Bock, escaped from the Orient State Institute in August and broke into the Harry Borrer residence. He was sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary for breaking and entering.

His female companion was judged not legally sane by doctors at Lima State Hospital where both were sent after they were indicted by the grand jury.

Rural America Bleeding From Government Aid Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm-belt congressmen say rural America is bleeding from multiple budget cuts administered by White House officials who don't understand agriculture and its role.

Rep. William J. Scherle, R-Iowa, said Thursday: No one at the White House "knows the difference between an ear of corn and a bale of hay. The White House should realize that farm programs don't cost — hell, they pay!"

Rep. W. R. Poage D-Tex., said of the President's budget specialists: "I don't think they know what they're doing—they have a dense ignorance and a lack of understanding with the problems."

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz said he agrees with the administration's economy drive, although "sometimes I ask, why me?" So far, Butz added, he has been "the only pigeon on the roost and have been taking all the shots."

Rural congressmen invited Butz to Capitol Hill today to discuss the series of post-election cutbacks in popular agricultural projects—including an end to conservation programs for which Congress had earmarked more than $200 million a year.

During a meeting of 54 congressmen or their aides from 28 states Thursday, farm-state representatives protested the administration's actions and planned their next moves.

Derailment Probe Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state has ordered the Erie Lackawanna Railroad to report by next Friday on the train derailment, fire and explosions in Harrod near Lima Thursday which killed a teenage girl and forced 100 persons to evacuate their homes overnight.

Henry Eckhart, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, says railroad equipment failure apparently was a primary factor in the incident.

"We have serious concerns about the ability of the railroads operating in Ohio to properly maintain their equipment and property," Eckhart said.

Eckhart asked railroad officials for a full report on the derailment with the first information to be submitted by next Friday.

One of the derailed cars filled with flammable chemicals burst into flames and set off explosions in three nearby portable storage tanks filled with anhydrous ammonia. Flying metal killed the girl.

An accident Sunday afternoon at the junction of Routes 104 and 665 resulted in injuries to three persons, including an Ashville resident.

Floyd F. Pabst, 55, of Ashville, reported injury after he struck the rear of a car operated by a Jackson man, William E. Stanley, 65. Stanley and his wife, Donna, age 64, both suffered slight injuries.

Ptl. Whitt of the Highway Patrol indicated that Stanley had come to a stop at the intersection, headed east on 665. He then pulled out into the path of Pabst's car. Both vehicles had to be towed away.

Sentence Man For Break-In

Acting Common Pleas Judge Guy Cline handed down a 1-5 year penitentiary sentence on Roger Jackson Friday.

Jackson, along with Martha May Bock, escaped from the Orient State Institute in August and broke into the Harry Borror residence. He was sentenced to the Ohio Penitentiary for breaking and entering.

His female companion was judged not legally sane by doctors at Lima State Hospital where both were sent after they were indicted by the grand jury.

Rural America Bleeding From Government Aid Cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farm-belt congressmen say rural America is bleeding from multiple budget cuts administered by White House officials who don't understand agriculture and its role.

Rep. William J. Scherle, R-Iowa, said Thursday: No one at the White House "knows the difference between an ear of corn and a bale of hay. The White House should realize that farm programs don't cost — hell, they pay!"

Rep. W. R. Poage D-Tex., said of the President's budget specialists: "I don't think they know what they're doing—they have a dense ignorance and a lack of understanding with the problems."

Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz said he agrees with the administration's economy drive, although "sometimes I ask, why me?" So far, Butz added, he has been "the only pigeon on the roost and have been taking all the shots."

Rural congressmen invited Butz to Capitol Hill today to discuss the series of post-election cutbacks in popular agricultural projects—including an end to conservation programs for which Congress had earmarked more than $200 million a year.

During a meeting of 54 congressmen or their aides from 28 states Thursday, farm-state representatives protested the administration's actions and planned their next moves.

The congressmen generally said they were unsure exactly what step would be the best one, although they discussed such things as the possibility of a suit challenging the administration's decisions.

Other suggestions included beefing up the House Appropriations Committee staff so it could examine budget proposals more closely instead of yielding to the executive branch in setting spending priorities.

Derailment Probe Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state has ordered the Erie Lackawanna Railroad to report by next Friday on the train derailment, fire and explosions in Harrod near Lima Thursday which killed a teenage girl and forced 100 persons to evacuate their homes overnight.

Henry Eckhart, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, says railroad equipment failure apparently was a primary factor in the incident.

"We have serious concerns about the ability of the railroads operating in Ohio to properly maintain their equipment and property," Eckhart said.

Eckhart asked railroad officials for a full report on the derailment with the first information to be submitted by next Friday.

One of the derailed cars filled with flammable chemicals burst into flames and set off explosions in three nearby portable storage tanks filled with anhydrous ammonia. Flying metal killed the girl.

Use The Classifieds

One way or another, we're going to put you in Levi's.®

Test-drive a Hornet Hatchback and get a Levi's® shoulder bag free.

Once you get into our new Hornet Hatchback, we don't think you'll want to get out.

The Hatchback has the sporty lines of a European GT car, but under the hood, it's an economy car (price: $2449*). So it saves you money on gas, maintenance and insurance (save up to 20% with some companies, with optional recoverable rear bumpers).

The Hatchback's hatch lifts up and the rear seat folds down, to give you easy access to 23 cubic feet of carrying space.

And the Hatchback is available with an optional Levi's® interior, too.

Which brings us to our modest bribe. Your AMC dealer has a free Levi's shoulder bag for you, just for test-driving the Hatchback. The bag is made from classic Levi's blue denim. Orange stitching. Copper buttons. The traditional Levi's leather patch. Great for weekend trips. The beach. Or a very hip substitute for a purse.

Test-drive the Levi's that carry you. And walk (or drive) home with the Levi's you carry.

Offer open to licensed drivers only — while supply lasts.

AMERICAN MOTORS BUYER PROTECTION PLAN

1. A simple, strong guarantee. When you buy a new 1973 car from an American Motors dealer, American Motors Corporation guarantees to you that, except for tires, it will pay for the repair or replacement of any part it supplies that is defective in material or workmanship. This guarantee is good for 12 months from the date the car is first used or 12,000 miles, whichever comes first. All we require is that the car be properly maintained and cared for under normal use and service in the fifty United States or Canada, and that guaranteed repairs or replacement be made by an American Motors dealer.
2. A free loaner car from almost every one of our dealers if guaranteed repairs take overnight.
3. Special Trip Interruption Protection.
4. And a toll free hot line to AMC Headquarters.

Orange Soil Said Young For Moon

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The men who found it say an orange soil discovered on the moon may be only about 10 million years old, the youngest lunar material ever brought to earth.

Apollo 17 astronauts Eugene A. Cernan, Harrison H. Schmitt and Ronald E. Evans said in a news conference Friday that the soil, which Schmitt and Cernan discovered while exploring the moon's surface, may fill in later chapters of the moon's history.

"It has to be very young," said Schmitt, a geologist and the first American scientist to fly into space. "My guess would be about 10 million years."

If true, the Apollo 17 material will post-date all other moon material brought to earth. The youngest found on previous Apollo missions was about one billion years old.

Schmitt said the discovery "means that the moon is still active enough to produce volcanic rock."

Many scientists had earlier believed that the moon was geologically dead and had been dead for about three billion years.

Americans spend less on food than anyone else!

KEEPING YOU POSTED

Statics won't lower food prices, but these facts may help you see the whole picture . . .

Even in this time of rising prices, we spend less of our after-tax income on food in this country than people anywhere else in the world. The source for that statistic is the United States Department of Agriculture. Specifically, we spend 12.5% of our income for food at the super market, and another 3.3% for food eaten out. So the total food expense is 15.8%. Now compare that to some other countries.

England	22%	Japan	29%
France	23%	Italy	33%
Russia	45% to 50%

FOOD PRICES HAVE GONE UP THE LEAST OF ANY MAJOR CONSUMER EXPENSE

This seems surprising, but the fact is: food prices haven't gone up as much as most other prices. The source for this fact is the United States Department of Labor.

Compare the statistics:

Food in the super market	up 29% in ten years
Clothing	up 33% in ten years
Recreation	up 34% in ten years
Housing	up 37% in ten years
Medical Care	up 58% in ten years

We notice food prices more, of course, because we buy food more often, and usually pay cash. But . . . food prices have actually gone up least of any major consumer expense.

Statistics don't lower prices, but they can help you see the whole picture.
